

Content and Copyright

Last updated: June 2026

This policy explains who owns the content on the Forum, the permission you give us when you post, how we treat intellectual property, and how to report content that infringes someone's rights. It forms part of our Terms of Service and sits alongside Roblox's own intellectual property and copyright processes. Where this policy and the Roblox rules differ, the Roblox rules take precedence.

1. You own what you create

You keep ownership of the original content that you post on the Forum ("Your Content"). Posting it here does not transfer your ownership to us. This mirrors Section 7 of the Terms of Service.

2. The permission you give us

So that the Forum can function, you grant us a worldwide, non-exclusive, royalty-free licence to host, store, cache, reproduce, display, adapt for technical purposes such as formatting and display, publish, and distribute Your Content within the Forum, together with the username and display name shown with it, for the purposes of operating, providing, securing, moderating, improving, and promoting the Forum. This permission lasts while Your Content is on the Forum and ends when it is removed, except that we may keep copies that others have quoted or re-posted, and copies in backups, logs, or moderation records for a limited period for security, safety, or legal reasons.

3. You are responsible for what you post

By posting Your Content, you confirm that you own it or have all rights and permissions necessary to post it and to grant the licence above, and that it does not infringe anyone else's intellectual property, privacy, or other rights, and does not break the Community Rules.

4. Respect other people's rights

Do not upload, copy, or share text, art, images, audio, or other material that you do not own or do not have permission to use. Crediting the original creator does not, by itself, give you the right to post someone else's work. If you do not have permission or a licence, do not post it.

5. Our intellectual property

The Forum itself, including its name, branding, design, layout, code, and the text and materials we author (the "Forum Materials"), belongs to us or our licensors and is protected by intellectual property and other laws. We reserve all rights in the Forum Materials that we do not expressly grant. You may not copy, redistribute, or use the Forum Materials outside the Forum except as we expressly permit or as allowed under the Roblox rules for experiences, and you may not use our name or branding without our prior written permission.

6. Feedback

If you choose to send us feedback, ideas, or suggestions about the Forum, you agree that we may use them for any purpose without any obligation or payment to you.

7. Reporting copyright infringement

If you believe that content on the Forum infringes a copyright that you own or control, you can ask us to review and, where appropriate, remove it. To help us act on your report, please include the following:

- A clear identification of the copyrighted work you say has been infringed;
- A clear identification of the material you say is infringing, and where it is located on the Forum, with a link or other details that let us find it;
- Your name and a way to contact you, and a description of your relationship to the work (for example, that you are the rights holder or are authorised to act for them);
- A statement that you believe in good faith that the use of the material is not authorised by the rights holder, its agent, or the law; and
- A statement that the information in your report is accurate, and that you are the rights holder or are authorised to act on the rights holder's behalf.

You can submit your report through the Forum's in-game support system. Because the Forum operates on Roblox and content is hosted on the Roblox platform, you may also use Roblox's official copyright and DMCA process, which applies across the platform and may be the appropriate route for a formal takedown. Please note that knowingly making a false claim of infringement may expose you to liability.

8. If your content was removed

If we remove Your Content in response to a copyright report and you believe it was removed because of a mistake or a misidentification, you can tell us through the Forum's in-game support system. Please identify the content that was removed, explain why you believe you have the right to post it, and provide a way for us to contact you. Where appropriate, we may restore the content. You can also use the appeals route described in the Moderation and Appeals policy.

9. Repeat infringers

We remove infringing material, and in appropriate cases we permanently ban accounts that repeatedly infringe the intellectual property of others. This is consistent with our Terms of Service and with Roblox's repeat-infringer policy.

10. Trademarks and other intellectual property

If you believe that content on the Forum infringes a trademark or another intellectual property right that you own or control, you can report it through the Forum's in-game support system using the same kind of detail described in Section 7, and you may also use Roblox's platform-wide process.

11. Roblox's role

Roblox has its own Terms of Use, Community Standards, and copyright and DMCA processes that apply to all content on its platform. Nothing in this policy limits Roblox's rights or its ability to act on content. Where this policy and the Roblox rules differ, the Roblox rules take precedence.

12. Changes to this policy

We may update this policy from time to time. If we make changes, we will post the updated policy and change the "Last updated" date at the top. By continuing to use the Forum after the changes take effect, you accept the updated policy.